Mrs. Isobel Strong Weds Salisbury Field.

SAN FRANCISCO—Mrs. Isobel Strong of Santa Barbara, stepdaughter of Robert Louis Stevenson, was married yesterday to Edward Salisbury Field, well-known author and playwright, at the country home of Dr. and Mrs. Russell H. Cool at Los Gatos. In the marriage license the age of Mrs. Strong is given as 48 and that of Field 39 years. Because of the recent death of Mrs. Stevenson, the bride's mother, the wedding was a quiet one, being attended by only a few intimate friends. It is reported that Mr. and Mrs. Field will divide their time between New York City and California.

The wedding came as a surprise to many close friends of Field and Mrs. Strong. In 1907 a report was denied by Field's mother that he had married Mrs. Robert Louis Stevenson. This report started in Los Angeles, the home of the Field family, and it was discovered that it was started by a woman in the employ of Mrs. Stevenson. At that time there was no public intimation that Field and Mrs. Strong were more than friends.

Dinner Aboard the Alert.

The U. S. S. Alert was the scene of a gay dinner party on Tuesday evening when Lieut. Leo Welch entertained a number of friends. Yellow was the chosen color for the decorations and big fluffy chrysanthemums were deftly arranged to carry out the golden effect. Those who spent the evening as Mr. Welch's guests were Miss Grace Carter, Miss Harriet Hatch, Miss Lila McDonald, Miss Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. Collins, Lieut. Campanile, Yates and McDonald.

Clark-Hoermann Wedding.

A pretty wedding was solemnized Wednesday evening at the St. Clement's Episcopal church when Miss Adele Hoermann, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. F. B. Hoermann of Watertown, Wis., became the bride of Lawrence Everett Clark of this city. The Rev. Canon Melborne performed the double wedding ceremony. At eight o'clock to the old stately strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, the bride, attired in an ivory crepe meteor gown trimmed with real lace and pearls, entered on the arm of her brother-in-law, Mr. Hartwig Harder. Her long tulle veil, which was made in cap effect, was caught with orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and ginger.

She was preceded by the maid of honor, her sister, Miss Selma Hoermann of Watertown, Wisconsin, who wore a beautiful gown of peach blossom chiffon trimmed with Venice lace and carried a colonial bouquet. Mr. Clark was attended by Thomas L. Bolton as the best man and Mr. Clymer and Mr. Mae George acted as ushers.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. H. Harder gave a reception at the Country Club which was appropriately decorated for the occasion. During the day congratulations, by cable, were received from the parents of the bride and also from her brothers and sisters, Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Hoermann, Dr. and Mrs. E. J. Hoermann, Mr. and Mrs. M. Weiser of Watertown, Wis., and Dr. and Mrs. R. B. Hoermann, Dr. and Mrs. A. H. Hoermann, Dr. B. A. Hoermann of Milwaukee, Wis., and Dr. and Mrs. T. F. Shinnick of Beloit, Wis.

After the reception the young couple left for a brief honeymoon and will be at home after November 15th at their home in Lunallilo street. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Carl, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Hummel, Mr. and Mrs. A.

Miss Bessie Porter Edwards, (at left) daughter of General and Mrs. Clarence R. Edwards and Miss Margaret Porter, their niece, who departed in the Manchuria for the east.

Humburg, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Schultze, Mr. and Mrs. A. Falke, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Schmutzler, Mr. and Mrs. H. Glade, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Bolton, Mr. and Mrs. C. Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. E. Wilder, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Tay, Dr. and Mrs. Ketchum, Mr. and Mrs. McCarthy, Mrs. K. Cooper, Miss Cooper, Miss Oremba, Miss F. Oremba, Miss Topham, Miss McCarthy, Mr. and Mrs. Milverton.

Mrs. Roe a Hostess.

One of the pleasant informal affairs of the week was the card party at which Mrs. Roe entertained last Saturday afternoon at Fort Kamehameha. At the close of the afternoon Mrs. Newcomb, who had made the highest score, was awarded a set of dainty hand-painted dinner cards. Among those present were Mrs. Benjamin Watkins, Mrs. Newcomb, Mrs. Walter Johnson and Mrs. Roe.

Benefit for Y. W. C. A.

The Royal Hawaiian Opera House is booked for the beginning of October by the old time favorite story hero "Little Lord Fauntleroy," a character beloved alike by children and grown-ups, and one like unto Peter Pan, inasmuch as years do not seal his youthful charm.

The cast is one well known to Honolulu audiences, including as it does professionals and amateurs of genuine talent who have long since satisfied the public with their sincere work. The title role will be handled by Miss Hazel Kellogg, who has starred in the part professionally. Miss Kellogg has been associated with Ye Liberty Theater, Oskland, California, for several years in juvenile roles, and has also acted with Nance O'Neill in Oliver Twist, taking on different occasions two parts in the cast, that of the Artful Dodger and Charley Bates, which parts are numbered among her most successful roles, though of course Cedric Errol heads the list.

It would be an easy matter to write a rhapsody on the vivacity, originality and level-headedness of Miss Kellogg, but that would be a very insufficient eulogy to her winning character, and one she would hardly appreciate, strange as it may seem in these days when the craving for notoriety is so strong. She is simple in her tastes, pleasant in her friendships and above all, an earnest worker. Because of this genuine love for her profession, Percy Kent Robottom, U. S. N., which took place at St. Matthews Church, Jamestown, Rhode Island, on September 2. The bride is a daughter of Dr. Alexander Fitzhugh Magruder and since her debut has frequently been seen at the smart affairs in New York and Newport and is a leader in the junior set in the Quaker City. Ensign Robottom is one of the younger officers in the United States navy and is at present with the Atlantic submarine flotilla.

The Robottom's wedding was one of the most elaborate affairs of the Newport season.

Red Cross Fete.

Society folk at the fashionable summer resorts on the mainland have closed the season with fetes for the benefit of the National Red Cross war fund; and maids and matrons as well as gallant bean brummers have made every effort to swell this fund which is so much needed in Europe.

One of the most successful of these functions was that given by Mrs. Vanderbilt, at the "Breakers," her Newport mansion. It is said that an enormous amount of money was raised on this occasion, as well as at similar resorts where society wives away the summer.

It has been suggested that the ladies of Honolulu do something towards helping the fund. Honolulu has a wide reputation for bidding Dame Charity Goodspeed, and as there are hundreds of representatives of the warring countries living in Honolulu it is almost certain that a charity bazaar or dance, or some other form of entertainment would meet with approval everywhere.

Society in the War Zone.

The ladies of the royal circle in London, though they have given up all formal and pretentious functions, are still entertaining, according to mainland papers. But instead of sitting down to the usual afternoon of bridge after a luncheon, everyone brings a neat sewing bag and needles are used for hours and busy hands fashion useful garments for the fighting army.

General and Mrs. Edwards' Dance.

The largest and one of the most enjoyable of the week's functions was the dancing party at which General and Mrs. Edwards entertained on Wednesday evening for their daughter, Miss Bessie Porter Edwards and their niece Miss Margaret Porter who, after spending an enjoyable summer in Hawaii returned to the mainland by the Manchuria Friday. Miss Edwards is on her way to Dobbs Ferry, where she will resume her studies, while Miss Porter is homeward bound to Niagara Falls. Both young ladies made a host of friends in Honolulu and it was with deep regret that a bevy of young folks bade them bon voyage as the big liner pulled out of the harbor. The greater part of the evening was devoted to the latest of the dances and shortly after eleven delicious refreshments were served.

Among those present were Miss Edwards, Miss Porter, Miss Elizabeth Carter, Miss Elizabeth Rosenbaum, Miss Gertrude Malone, Miss Catherine Lenihan, Miss Lenora Lenihan, Miss Ruth Anderson, Miss Margaret Hart, Miss Betty Case, Miss Lila McDonald, Lieut. Sattler, Lieut. Little, Lieut. Goetz, Lieut. Calder, Mr. and Mrs. Crockett, Major Smith, Dr. Deiber, Lieut. Jenkins.

A Navy Wedding.

The wedding season has already opened in the east, many of the attractive brides-elect of the summer choosing to be matrons by fall. A wedding which will be of interest to the army and navy folk was that of Miss Isabel Magruder and Ensign

Loomis-McCorriston. The wedding was held on Tuesday, September 29, at the site of her marriage to Ned Loomis. The wedding will be very quiet and will take place at the home of the bride's parents. Only the relatives and close friends of the young couple have been invited to attend the affair. Miss McCorriston will be attended by Miss Fanny Hooks and Miss Sarah Lucas as bridesmaids.

Dinner for Mrs. Francis Gay.

At this time of the year formal functions are almost prohibited in Honolulu, but the informal entertainments are equally frivolous, more enjoyable and doubly popular. Among Reception at the Parish House.

The new teachers who have come to Honolulu this year will be the accomplished guests at a delightful informal reception at the Parish House next Thursday afternoon at which the Ladies' Aid Society of Central Union church will entertain.

Mrs. Henry Waterhouse has charge of the affair and it is expected that it will be one of the largest functions of the month, as it is the plan of those in charge to introduce the new teachers to the ladies of Honolulu. Those who will assist Mrs. Waterhouse during the afternoon are: Mrs. John Erdman, Mrs. George Curry, Mrs. Carl Andrews, Mrs. Morong and Mrs. J. S. B. Pratt.

Society Personals

Mrs. Jane Mist and Miss Edith Mist of Manca valley were outgoing passengers in the Manchuria yesterday morning. They will spend several weeks visiting friends on the mainland.

The Numerous Friends of Miss Ethelwyn Castle and Miss Edith Williams.

will be glad to hear that they have returned to New York after spending almost a year in Europe, and that they are on their way to Honolulu.

Mr. R. E. Mist was a departing passenger in the Manchuria yesterday morning and vague rumors are abroad that King Cupid has something to do with his trip to the mainland, the date of a very pleasant event having been arranged by cable.

Miss Shirley Foster, who has conducted the social columns of the Star-Bulletin for the past six months, left for Hawaii in the Mauna Kea Wednesday, where she will remain for some time visiting her sister, a teacher on the Big Island.

Miss Virginia Sullivan of San Francisco will leave the coast city at an early date for Honolulu to visit Lieut. and Mrs. S. A. Campbell at Schofield Barracks, says the Examiner. She also will visit Lieut. and Mrs. E. J. O'Hara at Fort de Russy.

A noticeable void will be felt in army circles this winter owing to the absence of Mrs. B. O. Mahaffey, wife of Captain Mahaffey. Mrs. Mahaffey is a delightful woman and her loss was much taken up with the social affairs in Honolulu, where Captain Mahaffey is stationed.

Among the noted travelers who passed through Honolulu in the Manchuria were Mr. and Mrs. Dreyfus Barnett. Mr. Barnett is a noted French explorer and scientist and is on his way to Paris after having spent some time in China conducting scientific explorations.

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Kennedy returned to Honolulu in the Ventura yesterday morning after spending a delightful vacation in the Antipodes. Mrs. Kennedy is one of the most charming society matrons in Honolulu and entertains at many informal functions at her beautiful home on Victoria street.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Castle, Jr., who have been visiting Mr. Castle's parents this summer, departed for the East in the Manchuria yesterday. Mr. Castle is an author of note, his first novel, "The Green Vase," causing quite a sensation in Boston, where the scene was laid. During their visit in Mr. Castle's old home they were extensively entertained by their many friends and relatives.

Judge and Mrs. Nathan Bijur of New York were visitors in Honolulu during the time the steamer Manchuria was in port. Judge Bijur is a member of the supreme court of New York and with his wife was on his way around the world. The European war, however, brought their trip to a rather unexpected end and they are now en route to their eastern home.

Dr. and Mrs. William Butler are returning to the States after having spent several months in India. They are traveling in the Manchuria. Dr. Butler is one of the most celebrated specialists in mental diseases in the United States and his trip to India was in connection with a physicians' conference held there recently.

Three of the graduates of the class of 1914 of Punahou Academy, who have decided to complete their education in Hawaii are Miss Thelma Murphy, Miss Louise Churchill and Miss Ruth Soper. These three society maids will take a two-years' course in the Normal school and prepare for positions in the territorial board of education.

Listen, girls; ears are in style again. For several weeks now leaders in fashion and society have appeared at the large functions wearing their ears. Perhaps the heat of the summer instigated the fashion, for now instead of wearing smart "tufts" of hair over the ears and part of the cheek, the old French twist has been rejuvenated and with it of course comes the ears, and now poets may again rave over the little pink drops.

Among the arrivals in the Ventura yesterday morning were Professor and Mrs. Hermann S. Hering. Professor Hering is a member of the board of lecturership of the First Church of Christ Scientist of Boston.

mass, and will deliver a free lecture on Christian Science at the Hawaiian opera house tomorrow night. The Heringa expect to remain in Honolulu about a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Schuman, with their beautiful daughter Miss Myrtle, are also in Europe though no one has heard of them since the outbreak of the war. The last letters from them were mailed in Bremen, Germany, and much anxiety is felt as to their welfare.

Justice and Mrs. E. M. Watson will return to Honolulu in the Matsunaka on Tuesday, after spending a most enjoyable summer on the mainland. Mrs. Watson is one of Honolulu's most charming society matrons and it is expected that she will entertain extensively this season.

The following clipping from the Los Angeles Times will be of interest to Honoluluans: "Miss Edith S. Farrell, who has been visiting friends in Long Beach during the summer months, has returned to the Engstrom. She will remain there until the winter when she will visit her old home, Honolulu."

Miss Ruth Richards, the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Richards, was among the young students to depart on the Wilhelmnia Wednesday. Miss Richards is one of the most popular members of Honolulu's younger set and is one of the favorites in Wellesley, where she is studying. She is an earnest student and figures prominently in all the girls' athletics as well as in the school social functions.

A host of friends greeted Mrs. Robert McDowney on her return from a six months' visit to the mainland, where she has been visiting relatives of Mr. McDowney as well as many of her old schoolmates. Mrs. McDowney is one of the most attractive young society matrons and figures prominently in the affairs of the younger set. Mrs. McDowney will probably be one of the busiest hostesses of the season.
